

Ellyn Enisman

CEC, LMSW

Ellyn Enisman is a Licensed Master of Social Work and a Certified Coach. She brings to her practice, advanced training and experience in counseling and over 20 years of corporate and individual coaching experience.

She has held both leadership and management positions in industry as well. Ellyn partners with clients in a collaborative process to support them through life and career transitions and develop fulfilling personal and work relationships.

Through counseling, she works proactively to help clients move forward through a process of self discovery that can reduce emotional suffering and create positive change.

In an additional focus of her practice Ellyn helps college students, recent grads, and experienced professionals navigate career challenges including job search strategy and acquisition and interview skill training. She is the author of the recently published book: Job Interview Skills 101, The Course You Forgot To Take, a book written specifically for college students and recent grads.

Ellyn holds a Master of Social Work from Adelphi University, a Certificate in Human Resource Management from Marist College and is an adjunct professor in the Graduate School of Social Work at Adelphi University. She is a member of The International Coach Federation, Society of Human Resource Management, American Society for Training and Development, The National Association of Social Workers, and is the Board President of People, Inc.
